Paul Quinlan, Jesuit folk singer, will appear in concert at Salve Regina College Thursday, March 28 at 7:30 p.m. in the O'Hare Academic Center. Donation is one dollar; students, fifty cents.

Mr. Quinlan's program will consist of folk songs and ballads with a special concentration on his unique contribution to American sacred folk music, the "folk psalms." In these, he is concerned primarily with handing on the word of God -- "God's joyous message of Salvation" -- in song.

Presently an instructor at Holy Cross College, the nationally known recording artist comes from a family of folk singers and dancers and was early initiated into his exciting medium. After graduating from Dartmouth in 1960, he began his Jesuit course of studies.

The concert is sponsored by the Folk Music Society on campus. Megan Daley, '69, is presidnet.; Leo Bottari, faculty advisor.
